

After participating in the "Sweatshop" activity today, I experienced many feeling/emotions. Your assignment is to write three paragraphs covering the following areas. The first paragraph should include three of the feelings/emotions that you felt while making the boxes and why you felt this way. Next compare your experience with what you think the kids in Pakistan feel on a daily bases. Try to incorporate two facts from the novel. Finally, write about three things that you are grateful for and tell why. Don't forget seven different sentence openers and eight to ten dress-ups. Start your assignment off with an attention grabber (three questions or facts that would spark the reader's interest.)
